THE COURTS.

charged with the murder and robbery of the Count de Bois de Bianca, at Brussels, and whose extradition is demanded by Belgium on that charge, the testimony for the prosecution was completed, and an adjournment taken till the 1st of February, to enable the defendant to enter upon his defence.

None of the clerks of the State Courts have been oald their salaries for last month. The reason as signed for such non-payment is exhaustion of the appropriation. This is thought a little strange, as there has been no increase in the number of clerks Comptroller, however, is evidently desirous of keeping on the right side of the Judges. Some of them he paid on the last of December, and to the others he sent by special messenger their salaries on New Year's Day, with the indorsement on the envelopes, "Compliments of Andrew H. Green.

THE HAYES HOMICIDE.

Obscure and unknown, comparatively speaking, as were the parties to the homicide, and singularly commonplace as were the circums ances of the case, there has, during the three days' trial of Thomas Hayes for the killing of Thomas D. Delaney upon an indictment for murder in the first degree, been a large crowd in attendance at being on the bench. Through the protracted summing up of counsel and a correspondingly proming up of counsel and a correspondingly pro-longed charge of the Judge, lasting trill nearly seven o'clock last evening, the court room still remained filled with an eager and anxious crowd. By the prisoner sat, as during the pre-vious days of the trial, his young with and their two intant children. His counsel, Mr. A. Oakey Hall, did the utmost that legal ingenuity could de-vise for him, and Assistant District Attorney Lyons was equally zealous on benait of the prose-

Police Surgeon Powell for the delence, He testified as to the wound on the prisoner's hand. He could not conceive in what manner the abrasion could have been produced by the trigger of a pistol.

Daniel Lindsay was also recalled. He testified to recognizing a pistol with which the deceased was shot; this pistol first belonged to him; when he was handling it once in a lager beer saloon it suddenly exploded, sending a ball through his inger, the mark of which he exhibited to the jury; he was pericetly sober that day, although he had been intoxicated the previous evening.

The above closed the testimony. Mr. Hall then called the attention of the Court to the last law on murder in the first and second degrees, and to the statutes on mansanghter in the second, third and lourth degrees. He asked the Court to charge the jury that there was no evidence of any intention to kill at the time of murder in the first degree, and there was no evidence of any intention to kill at the time the prisoner fired the intai shot, as could easily be gathered by the interences of the jury from the circumstances of the case. He would ask this Honor to charge about justifiable homeide; that it was within the crowince of the jury to say that at the time to the commission of the crime the prisoner had reason to believe his own line to be in danger. Mr. Hall then began his summing up for the defence, He recerred to the different laws in this and other countries as defluing the relations of murder and mansanghter, and dwelt upon the responsibilities and duties committed to the jury by their outlies of office, the question of the life or death of a fellow-bediar left in their hands. He next recounted the circumstances of the killing, and dwelt particularly on the fact of Delancy's persistently following the prisoner. The usual recess which was taken at one o'clock interrupted his address, but after fecess he resumed his summing up, occupying fully two bours, He argued at length the intent on the part of the prisoner, and his close, so the ter

Roach on the Delaware Bay, it being claimed that these were without the jurisdiction of the State. these were without the jurisdiction of the State. All the lacts embodied in the papers in the case were published at length in the Herald at the time, and it is, therefore, unnecessary to repeat them. The assessment sought to be vacated was on some $2,000,000 worth of property. An affidavit was yesterday suomitted to Judge Donohue, of the Supreme Court, that the Tax Commissioners had made no return to the writ and that the company intended, in good mith, to press the suit. Upon this affidavit Judge Donohue granted a stay of all proceedings to enforce the tax until five days after the final determination of the suit in the courts.

THE PILOT COMMISSIONERS IN COURT. An appeal was taken yesterday from the recent decision by Judge Davis, refusing the application made by George H. Sisco, Thomas Connelly and Charles Cummisky to compel the Board of Com-missioners of Pilots to number their boat and add the same to the list of pilot boats. Judge Davis, as will be remembered, held that the Pilot Commissioners have power to limit the number of pilot boats, and that their bylaw affixing a limit to the boats is obligatory upon the pilots. The appellants, who are licensed pilots, of skilled experience, recently built for themselves a new boat, but, although submitting to the Commissioners a petition signed by nearly all of the leading shipping merchants and shippwiners of the city, failed to obtain permission to use their new boat except on the terms specified by the Commissioners, which they regard as nothing more than an illiberal and odious monopoly. Obedience to this monopoly, it is claimed, would compet them either to hire and run the old boats of the monopoly or exchange their new and reliable boat for an old and unseaworthy one. There are now twenty-two pilots. Adding the new boat to the list of pilots, but lessen the profits of the "ring" boats, and this is the real reason, as alleged of the opposition, why the Pilot Commissioners reliase to grant their request. The pilots named do not propose to give up the ship cither literally or legally, and, if they lad in the courts, say they will carry the matter to the Legislature.

A WESTERN RAILROAD SUIT. Oliver W. Barnes contracted to build fitty miles of the Mobile and Northwestern Railroad. The of the Mobile and Northwestern Railroad. The money not being forthcoming, he brought suit against the company and obtained a verdict for $128,467, including interest, the judgment having been contained by default. A motion was made yesterday to open the default, on the ground that the cause of action did not accrue in this State and that the company has no property in this state. It was alleged, in opposition, that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in this State and that the company has property in the state of t

CARELESS DRIVING.

A case was tried yesterday in the Marine Court, Part 2, before Judge Gross, in which Mr. Miller, the well known clothier, sued a Mr. Herman Wilthe well known clothier, sued a Mr. Herman Willersdorf for the sum of $1,000 for damages to a fine team of horses and carriage, occasioned by the alleged careless driving of Mr. Willersdorf, the delieudant. It appeared on the trial that Mr. Miller, while on his way to seil the horses in question, stopped in Rutgers street, a few feet from the corner of East Broadway, with his team and carriage, got out and entered a saloon on the corner for the purpose of lighting a cigar, and that while in the store he left the horses in charge of a young man; that a few minutes after the defendant drove along at a pretty rapid pace, and ran into and struck his carriage, upsetting and injuring it so that he was compelled to repair the same. Besides that, the horses started, ran away and injured themselves very much. He showed that he pain $117 for the repairs of the carriage and $120 for the medical attendance of the horses. The detendant claimed that he had 'a heavy load of lumber, and slipped into a hole in the street; that he was not guity of negligence. There seemed to be a great conflict of evidence; but after a review of the testimony by the Court and after some deliberation the jury brought in a verdict of $500 damages for the DECISIONS.

ESSEX MARKET POLICE COURT. Before Judge Murray.

MORE INDIGNANT DOCTORS. Judge Murray and his cierk, John Lindon, were kept busy all yesterday afternoon taking addi-tional complaints from the numerous victims of James Williams, the physicians' plunderer. Dr. James E. Perry, of No. 147 West Twenty-second street, testified that he lost a cloth coat, valued at $32, on the 4th of December last, and Johanna Slattery identified James Williams as the person at $32, on the 4th of December last, and Johanna Slattery identified James Williams as the person who had waited for the Doctor for haif an hour on that day and went out before he came in. The overcoat was missing immediately after Williams departure. On the 14th of December Dr. Edward C. Harverd, of No. 154 West Forty-minth street, lost gloves, scarfs, diamond glove button and a quantity of clothing—in all valued at $210. Miss Mary Blauvelt identified Williams as the person she admitted to the Doctor's office on the afternoon of the day these articles were siolen.

Dr. William P. Ackerman, of No. 134 Lexington avenue, was still another complainant. On the 29th of December he lost $160 worth of clothing and other articles. Margaret Murphy was the witness in this case.

On the 16th of December Dr. James S. Corradine, of No. 103 West Thirteenth street, was robbed of $257 worth of clothing and jewelry by Wilhams. A colored boy, named James Gloson, living at No. 68 Grove street, but who was in the employ of the Doctor at the time, fully Identified the prisoner as the person who entered the office on that day. Dr. F. W. Bird, of No. 305 Degraw street, Brooklyn, and Dr. Leary, of No. 654 De Kalo avenue, Brooklyn, were also in court ready to testify against Williams; but as there was no proof that the property stolen had been brought into the county of New York their names were merely taken as witnesses. Judge Murjay, after sending for the prisoner and examining nim, formally held him in $1,000 bail to answer on each complaint.
